Joan

Shan 1

The evolution of knowledge is increasingly rapid, with unhindered communication channels and inexpensive travel. Organizations across the world are already seeking to make the most of the possibilities by forming local and global partnerships and fostering relationships with other institutions.

IGSSSS being a social work practitioner and XIDAS being social work educator, at a time when the country needs more urgently passionate and empowered human resources, come together for a purposeful relationship to enhance the social work education and profession by managing the knowledge, evolving from both sides, in an effective manner so that a praxis (action-reflection-action) is promoted for strong and empowered community and country at large.

Purpose

The number of new professionals who are getting into the NGOs is constantly increasing and, for this reason, it is only logical that institutions like IGSSSS and XIDAS come together to ensure passionate and empowered professionals, who are well informed of the new oppressive situations in this fast changing world, getting into the social work organizations. In the same way XIDAS as an institution, aware of the changing social work requirements at the community level, has accordingly contextualize the curriculum of rural management so that the students are well equipped for social work profession.

Forming such a partnership, it helps in two main ways:

1. It offers the opportunity to students to go beyond the theoretical classes and understand the practical issues while practicing the theoretical principles at community level and vice-versa for IGSSSS.
2. It also enables both the institutions to have better human resources who are passionate about social work.

IGSSSS and XIDAS will enhance their ability to scrutinize debate and share experience for better practical implementation and academic accomplishment. Constructively challenging accepted opinions and ideas is central to their development, and this partnership will help to facilitate this.

This partnership will provide a huge amount of opportunities for XIDAS students and IGSSSS to exchange their innovative ideas and knowledge.

The above purposes will be accomplished by undertaking the following activities:

1. IGSSS staff visiting XIDAS to share the practical social work experiences with the students of Rural Management and Business Management.
2. IGSSS staff contributing articles, which are based on the different developmental projects implemented in the country with the support of IGSSS, to the XIDAS journal named Vikas Vani.
3. Once a year or once in two/three years, XIDAS and IGSSS contribute in rural management education by writing book/s for academic importance.
4. IGSSS as a technical agency supports XIDAS in implementing Climate Smart Village, which can be treated a Rural Project lab for the students to learn and contribute as interns.
5. XIDAS and IGSSS will work together to come up with a short term capacity building courses for the frontline community mobilizers and mid-level management team of grass root level Civil Society Organizations.
6. As per the need, IGSSS and XIDAS will occasionally organize joint national/international conferences and/or workshops of rural management importance.

Reporting

Annually, the Directors/Executive Head of both the organisation will meet to review the partnership, its purpose and major achievements as well as challenges. Accordingly they will decide whether to continue with the partnership. The Dean of XIDAS and Senior Manager for Programme Strategy and External Engagement from IGSSS will plan for the different activities and ensure its smooth implementation.

Funding

This MOU is not a commitment of funds. But both the organisation may agree to mobilize funds in future for specific projects/programmes.

Duration

This MOU is at-will and may be modified by mutual consent of authorized officials from both the organisation - IGSSS and XIDAS. This MOU shall become effective upon signature by the authorized officials from the IGSSS and XIDAS; and will remain in effect until modified or terminated by any one of the partners by mutual consent. In the absence of mutual agreement by the authorized officials from IGSSS and XIDAS this MOU shall end on 1st October 2024.
